Helping Families in Crisis Get Back on Their Feet

Families Helping Families

When a crisis strikes, many of us rely on relatives and friends for support. But for some parents, this is not an option. Safe Families seeks to help parents in crisis get on their feet by providing short-term care for their children with volunteer families for as little as a couple of days to as long as a year.

How does Safe Families work?

Some parents call us directly while others work with existing case workers to arrange care for their children. We work quickly to match children with volunteer families, often placing them on the same day we receive a parent's call.

Safe Families provides a loving, temporary home for children whose parents are in a crisis situation.

- Placing parents maintain full custody and can request the return of their children at any time
- Volunteer families are extensively screened with background checks and home studies
- Children ages 0-18 are eligible, including parenting teens
- Stays can be as short as a couple of days and as long as a year
- We are committed to reuniting parents and children as soon as possible

Other Services

Safe Families offers a variety of assistance for those who are in need in addition to living arrangements for a child.

Family Friends

Family Friends are volunteer mentors who come alongside parents to support them in making necessary changes to their lives.

Support for Existing Situations

If a relative or friend is already caring for a child and is in need of support, Safe Families welcomes them into our vibrant volunteer network by making home support visits, inviting them to community groups and giving them access to physical resources in order to strengthen them as they provide a stable environment for a child.
